5. Mr. Hebert stated he wondered about the whereabouts of Ben Bella. Mr. Helms said presumably he is still a prisoner in Algeria since it is unlikely that they would execute him, thus making him a martyr. Mr. Hebert then commented on the Today program of this morning. He said a woman author, Han Suyin, who wrote A Many Splendored Thing, discussed the China situation and the Red Guard activity. Mr. Hebert was most upset about the line she took and thought the Agency would be interested in looking at this.

8. The Director briefed on South Vietnam, following the attached statement. He also covered the material in the attached briefing entitled, "North Vietnam: Oil." In response to a question as to how to prevent oil from moving into Haiphong, the Director said probably the only fully effective methods would be mining or blockade.

9. The Director utilized the attached briefing material covering the Soviet submarine force and Soviet underground testing.

10. Mr. Price asked about aircraft construction activity in the Soviet Union. It was explained this was covered in detail at the 3 October meeting, but Mr. Helms offered to cover this in a private session with Mr. Price, who indicated he would very much like to do this later in the week.

11. Some questions were raised concerning the Red Guards and Chinese leadership problems. Mr. Helms gave them a very general run down on this, pointing out that in any event there is no solace for the U. S. in the current situation since all of the leadership are hard-line Communists and anti-U. S.

12. At the close of the meeting Mr. Rivers made reference to the fact that he and Mr. Bates would very much like to be kept up to date during the recess. He indicated that while Mr. Blandford would be out of town for several weeks, Mr. Kelleher would be available and that he and Mr. Bates were always available by telephone or otherwise.
